Dental Card.

I wish to say a word to the Gentlemen and Ladies of Bangor and vicinity. As parents you would do me a favor by calling and examining for yourselves. A gentleman in Bangor who is fifty years old, was in my office in April and said that he would give me one hundred dollars if I would save one tooth in his mouth without extracting it. But he was too late. If a man will thus value one tooth what should he do for his children.

Now if you cannot save your own, you can save those of your children. Almost every day some father or mother will come to the office with some little child to have me extract some aching tooth. I ask the mouth and find that the painful tooth is a temporary but a permanent one. The parent replies "I see you are wrong, she has never had but 4 teeth out, she will certainly have a permanent tooth on each side out of the way."

A very large proportion of our patrons have never had a tooth or have forgotten that in our first set we had twenty teeth. And that all teeth that grow back of the twenty are permanent ones, thirty two in all. I have extracted within the past year seven hundred and fifty teeth for one little girl who was not eleven years old. Will you parents suffer your children to suffer for their life time by your neglect? If by extraction I have lost your natural teeth, a good set of artificial ones where to go for the best artificial teeth. Hundreds of people in Bangor and vicinity will testify by their own experience all that he has said in this paper.

DR. J. K. DAWSON.—Though we have not the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with the gentleman, yet we have reason to believe that he is a most skilful practitioner of the dental art. At least he has made one old face in our house look young again and has fitted by art a pair of jaws to masticate the food again which nature thought to deprive of this privilege a little too soon. We think the work and composition of the two full sets of teeth he has inserted cannot be exceed anywhere.—Aroostook Intelligencer.

My price now is $50 for a whole set of the best artificial teeth. $25 for a half set.

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

HAS ACQUIRED A WORLD-WIDE FAME

All of my preparations are meritorious. A period of twenty years has PROVED THIS to be the case.

See remarks made by Benjamin Travers F. R. C. S., &c. Speaking of these diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA, its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is in the strictest sense a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

See remarks of the GREAT CHEMISTS AND PHILLMEN OF AMERICA.

WM. B. WARREN & CO.,
154 North Third Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

H. T. HELMBOLD.

Esteemed Friend:

I congratulate you on having the handsomest, and at the same time the MOST EFFECTIVE PILL that I have ever known for the purposes intended.

WM. B. WARREN & CO.

H. T. HELMBOLD.

Will remark in conclusion that his remedies are the result of long and careful study. The Fluid Extracts have been before the public twenty years, the sale of them in that time proves their value. All have been benefitted by them who followed my instructions, and to-day they stand UNEQUALLED in the excellent of their sale and UNSURPASSED by any Medicament in the Dispensatory, of the United States, not excepting a single HERB, ROOT, PLANT or scientific preparation.

Pharmaceutical I claim all mine to be and have never patented a single one.

ALL STAND ON THEIR MERITS.

The Pill I have in charge of owing to the affected for ten years.

They are now perfect, and I shall stake my time, money, and fame on their effectiveness. The inviting style in which the Pill itself is made, the bottle, label, wrapper—all show with what care they have been prepared. After examination no English or French preparation will show greater care, and I am really proud of them.

Instead of the nauseous looking, carelessly prepared Pills vended promiscuously and put up in wooden boxes, and made generally or offered by those having no experience in pharmaceutical matters, or manufacturers of medicines.

Test the medicine offered by your obedient servant,

There is an undertaker in New York whose sign bears the inscription 'Every requisite for a funeral.' John McBride Davidson passing along with Billy Birch went in and said he would take a corpse. 'A corpse I haven't any.' 'Then take down your sign' said McBride 'I don't know anything more requisite for a funeral than a corpse. Good morning.'

A curious and beautiful effect was produced by one of the ice making machines built lately in Philadelphia. There was cake of manufactured ice, in the center of which completely encased by the translucent material was a bouquet of fresh flowers. Every leaf and flower was perfectly visible while the brilliancy of the colors was enhanced by the refraction through the ice.

The following paragraph which has been going the rounds although perhaps somewhat too harsh not inaptly satirizes a prevailing female foible —

'No young lady can openly make profession of faith in her Saviour unless she has a polonaise white linen suit and a white chip hat trimmed with harebells. A simple muslin will not do, it is too 'harsh.'

A Kansas billiard table is thus described. 'First, in the middle of the floor, was a large goods box, on which was laid about a wagon load of sandstone, covered with about eight yards of blue jeans. For pockets they had old boots about No. 10 for cues they used old broken hoe handles, boiled eggs for balls and to count this lovely game they used dried apples on a clothes line.'

One of the lay speakers in a Methodist conference down east illustrated his readiness to fraternize with his southern brethren, and his feelings toward them, by the story of the two men that would not speak to the other but one having been converted at a camp-meeting, on seeing his former enemy, he held out his hand saying 'How dye do, Kemp? I am humble enough to shake hands with a dog.'

FARMERS' WIVES.—The farmer's wife has plenty of hard work to do. We all know that. She has plenty of dirty work besides. She cannot fold her soft white hands, and sit in her elegant parlor and await a stream of fashionable callers, No! Farm life means work—hard, rough, continuous work. It means something else, too, Let us see.

First of all the farmer's wife lives much in the companionship of her husband. She has him, body and soul. To her he can bring all his vexations and cares. She can understand them all—can sympathize with all. The day's work done, how sweet the twilight hour, the evening converse! There is time for interchange of thoughts and feelings. Husband and wife are partners in all business relations, and can fully understand each others' cares, trials, and perplexities.

Very different is the case of the merchant, or the professional man. There is no partnership here. Day by day the husband enters the lists in the keen competitions of business, anxious to gain wealth or honor that he may thereby gain wealth. He only cares for the money, so that his wife may spend it. She does not understand his business—cannot understand it. So their paths in life diverge. They have few interests in common. The beautiful dreams of "united hearts and hopes," which maidenhood revels in are forever unfulfilled, and the married pair go on in separate paths to the end of their journey.

The farmer's wife has also the companionship of her children. In the farm house there is plenty of elbow-room for the little ones in their mother's presence. They can go with her wherever she goes; she can always listen to their prattle, can direct their first efforts at thinking and doing. No "kindergarten" ever invented presents so good a school for the little ones, as is afforded in the farmer's home. Could some hard-working farmer's wife who is discouraged at the difficulties of her task, once step into these city palaces, as I see how utterly impossible it is there to afford children the development, physical and mental, they ought to have, she might be reconciled to her lot of 'scanting' children.

Surely the farmer's wife is sure of the future, and honor, right has labored so hard, so

THE SPIRIT OF THE "LOST CAUSE"

Referring to the recent speech and conversations of Jeff Davis the receptions and ovations bestowed upon him by the prominent Democrats of the South and the spirit of adherance to the cause which they regard as only temporarily held in abeyance the N Y Times pointedly remarks as follows

Now here are facts which cannot be twisted one way or the other by 'Radical' newspapers They speak for themselves They show what thousands of Democrats mean when they speak of restoring constitutional liberty After all the Radical newspapers are not doing so much to expose the Democratic tactics as Mr Jefferson Davis Thanks to him the people will know what they are about if they vote for a Democratic President at the next election They will be voting for a man who was and had better make up their minds at the same time to pay the price for it

As for Jefferson Davis in any other country it is but he would have been hanged long ago and all traitors and rebels ever deserve to be hanged Davis would not have suffered unjustly No great revolution was ever seen before in which the leaders were allowed to escape and permitted to go about the country afterward mouthing sedition There is such a thing as being too magnanimous—but suppose that it was all right to let Davis go surely the country has some claim upon him in return for its generosity Gen Lee set him a good example From the surrender at Appomattox to the day of his death not a word was ever known to utter a word calculated to revive the wild delusion which led him into unparalleled disasters upon the South or to injure the Government which had extended to him its forgiveness But Davis is not a man capable of appreciating such an example as this He must still go about not satisfied with the awful mischief he has already wrought scattering firebrands and arrows of death in his path He has the face to complain of the wrongs he has suffered from the Government. Has he ever asked himself what other Government but this would have spared his miserable life? And all others said and done what thanks do the Southern people owe to this man? Their affection for Jackson and Lee is at least comprehensible But Davis never did them any good but harm In the last days of the war, it was his talk that stores never reached the army from first to last he was an obdurate self conceited, incompetent leader At last forsooth he is to be set up on a pedestal and crowned with flowers, and worshipped as a hero

Why? Merely because he represents the miserable plans of 61 Intelligent men in the South know that he is a blockhead But they still believe in the principle of which Davis is a sort of embodiment They like to hear him mumble promises of a Revival of secession The Southern Democrats would not only too charmed to have him as their candidate for the Presidency next year What truth if the people mean to elect a Democrat at all they may as well take Jefferson Davis while they are about it—after getting him freed from political disabilities in accordance with the advice given by several Republican journals It is not enough that a party which is responsible for the sacrifice of hundreds of thousands of lives should still be free to protect traitors at the Government—he must be immediately rendered eligible to a seat in the Senate After that let us go a step further and put him in Gen Grants place If we are determined to have another rebellion let it be in our hands we may as well go the shortest way to work about it. If is, at least seems to be the opinion of some Republicans as well as Democrats

The Democrat has given voice guardedly to the Vallandigham new departure It finds no acceptable Democratic doctrines in portions of the platform and asks how we like them We have already given our opinion of Vals sudden conversion but as his is not our funeral it is more interesting to hear from the mourners The Democrat in so its most note endorses the clap-trap padding of the platform but when it comes to the gist of the document—the only portion that gives it any character the 'new departure about which all the Democratic rumpus has been raised—it ominously declares

Parts of the second and third resolutions open to grave objections

These resolutions contain the acceptance of the legitimate results of the war in letting the constitutional amendments which the Democrats have hitherto held to be revolutionary null and void the repudiation of the right of secession (How does the Democrat like that phrase as used by the great Vallandigham?) of 'slavery inequality before the law and political inequality and pledges the Democratic party to the full, faithful and absolute enforcement of the constitution as it now is so as to secure equal rights to all persons under it without distinction of race, color or condition. One can well imagine that the Democrat would find such declarations open to grave objections It is a bitter draught for our Bourbon contemporary, and especially so when held to its lips by the hand upon which it has so often fawned

The Democrat states that the efforts to induce Gen Roberts to reconsider his withdrawal will be unavailing, as the private reasons which first impelled him to decline a renomination have received additional force within the last few days.

Mr Joseph Hamilton Democratic Attorney General for the State of California, is a genuine Confederate Cross-Roads Democrat. In a speech delivered in San Francisco to the Sprigs of Democracy on the 10th inst., just after the time Vallandigham was taking his new dew departure," Mr Hamilton said —

We give up the colored vote entirely to the Republicans. It is of Republican origin, and the Democracy don't want it. The Democratic party will have no colored voters, if in power and, this being their well known principle why should they court the votes of colored men? They revolt from the idea. The colored men of the party are worthless; they are the leaders who pull the wires, while the young men do the work and pile up the votes on election day The young men for me. A young Democrat working at an anvil could, perhaps, by knocking at the head of a Republican, convert him. This policy should prevail to a large extent."

Gov Orr of South Carolina, in a recent interview with a Northern correspondent, made a very important statement. He said it was true there were Ku-Klux in his State, wild young fellows from the rebel army, but that Wade Hampton and other leading men there could recall them from their midnight marauding with a word if they would. But they feel sore over their disfranchisement, and do not care to do it. South Carolina, has thirty thousand more negroes than whites, and, he said, would always go Republican, unless the white Democrats learn enough to accept the situation.

The Lexington (Mo.) Caucasian expatiates in the following Democratic style. "Rescind every act, repudiate every debt, cancel every obligation, annul every amendment, bill and resolution, undo everything that has been done in the last ten hideous years—EXCEPT just so much as may be maintained by a free, full, fair, unframmeled vote of the whole people of the country—return to the grand old Constitution of our fathers AS IT WAS, unpatched, unstained; in fact, wipe out and begun anew"

THE TREATY IN THE PROVINCES The Washington Treaty continues to be discussed by the Nova Scotia newspapers The Halifax Colonist and Express, approve of the Treaty the Chronicle and Recorder treat the sub ect from party views, and the Reporter partly approves and partly disapproves of the Treaty, expressing a desire to see more favorable conditions to the portion relating to the fish eries In the latter paper Wednesday evening the following telegram from one of he Ottawa Cabinet appeared

'If the Treaty is not ratified by the Queen, the portion respecting the fisheries will be accepted or rejected by the Canadian Parliament at the next session. The Government and Parliament are quite free to deal with it, as the interests of Canada may require'

The Halifax Citizen in an article Thursday morning proceeds on the presumption that the functions of Parliament have been assumed by the Canadian Government by whom it affirms that the Treaty has been ratified The Canadian Government papers seem to foreshadow the intended policy of Sir John A McDonald and the Cabinet with reference to the Washington Treaty The Ottawa Times says neither the government of Canada as a whole nor Sir John A McDonald as the first Minister, are committed to the Treaty they have taken care to reserve for themselves the right of the most complete freedom of action in the matter The Citizen says that Sir John A McDonald display ed sound judgment in avoiding extremes and taking a moderate course, as it was understood that his signing, of the Treaty was with reluctance and reservation

THE $11,000,000 LEGACY It seems that a gentleman named Derby of New York, who owns property to the amount of eleven million dollars, much of it in England, has devised the whole estate conditionally to the United States The conditions of the legacy are that Congress shall pass an act guaranteeing perpetual interest on the amount at three per cent. This interest is to be paid quarterly to the heirs of Mr Derby His immediate heirs at present are five nephews and nieces and one grand niece The substance of this curious proposition is, in short, that Mr Derby agrees to give at his death eleven millions to the government in return for which the latter shall engage to distribute among the heirs of the testator the sum of three hundred and thirty thousand dollars yearly forever, or practically so long as any record of the funny can be kept

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL

Premier Gladstone has been indisposed but is now in better health

Superintendent Charles Jackson has been ordered to assume charge of the National Cemetery at Mobile Ala

Judge Cardozo has appointed William E Dodge Commissioner on the Broadway (N Y) opening in the place of A T Stewart resigned

John McLeod Murphy, formerly State Senator and Chief Engineer of the Tehuantepec Expedition, died in Harlem, N Y, Thursday morning aged 44

We learn by telegraph that Senator Morrill of this State had a chill while in the Senate Chamber last week and another slight one Tuesday but is otherwise doing well

Baron Gerolt has not yet obtained leave of his Government to return to Germany Sir Edward Thornton has obtained leave of absence and will take passage, with his family for Europe the 20th inst.

The Vicksburg Times says Vallandigham, seeing that the party was drifting rapidly to the demolition bowwows, is trying to galvanize a little life into the old concern'

The Galveston Republican says 'If the sensible men of the South desire universal amnesty the earliest, best and surest means of bringing it about is by repressing with a strong hand every manifestation of violence to the white and colored loyalists of the South

The trial of B M Yerger for killing Col Crane is progressing at Jackson Miss The defendants counsel moved to dismiss the case on account of former jeopardy in the trial by a military commission which was overruled on the ground that such a trial was unconstitutional

The New York Times asks this knotty question 'It is easy to say that Jeff Davis is politically dead' but when the leading influential citizens of Georgia and South Carolina flock around him and applaud his utterances, what then?"

The Special Committee on the Union Republican General Committee of New York, have issued a manifesto to the Republicans of the State in opposition to the Schultz and Orton scheme of reorganization which they term a faction movement, and advise the Republicans not to take part or lot in it, adding that the regular organization, with Horace Greeley at its head, will not disband at the command of any usurping State Committee or other unauthorized body

The Cincinnati Enquirer, apropos of "new departures, says "It has been said that the Whig party in 1852 made their platform as near like the Democratic as possible. They died that year That was their last appearance in politics"

Some of the Democrats at Harrisburg, Pa, on Tuesday night serenaded Gov Geary, and, in responding, he said that, while they had some differences of opinion on political questions, he felt and acknowledged that many of his warm long tried and devoted and highly respected personal friends are found within the ranks of the Democracy Then the band played

There has been an earnest contest for the Mobile Customs Collectorship. Ex-Senator Warner and Pearson of that State, wanting the place, supported by their respective friends, but Secretary Boutwell has concluded to retain Judge Miller in the office, and Miller has left for home,

Before leaving for Long Branch on Thursday, the President made the following appointments George Bancroft, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the German Empire, William H. Claggett and Henry L. Warner of Montana, and William H. Parsons of Texas, to be Commissioners for celebrating the Centennial Anniversary of American Independence at Philadelphia.

Mr George W. Smalley says that the Alabama clause in the Treaty of Washington is regarded in England as a surrender to us of all that we have ever claimed. Nobody attempts to hide that fact. On the other hand they look upon our tacit abandonment of the claim on account of the recognition of Confederate belligerence by England as an important concession.

The Galveston (Texas) News, having spoken of Horace Greeley "during his recent sojourn there, as a "public enemy," an editor whom it is understood was used

Soldiers of the War of 1812,

ATTENTION!

Congress has passed a law giving a Pension of $8 per month to the officers, soldiers and Seamen of the war of 1812, and to the widows of such as have died, and who married previous to 1815, thus doing justice to this noble and meritorious band of patriots. I have all the rolls and records of the service, and they are now in my hands and can be examined at any time by any interested.

I will give every soldier the benefit of these records to establish his claim to a pension, and I will assist him in the prompt and speedy prosecution of the claim. If the soldier discharges be lost, these records are to be relied on.

JULES FAVRE RESIGNS

THE VERSAILLISTS UNPOPULAR.

The Paris Press on the Situation.

Prince Napoleon Demands a Plebiscite.

THE PARISIANS EMBITTERED AGAINST THE VERSAILLES TROOPS.

Paris, May 1. The Versailles troops are now so popular as when they entered Paris because of the severe measures taken to them against the population. Large numbers of Frenchmen and foreigners are returning to Paris, to resume their commercial and manufacturing operations.

RELIEVING THE GERMAN GUARD.

St. Denis, June 1. Two regiments of cavalry have returned to Germany and their places have been supplied by other troops.

JULES FAVRE RESIGNS.

London, June 1. The Standard of this afternoon contains a dispatch from Versailles announcing the resignation of Favre. Two of the members of the Commune, Frankell and Fontaine, have been arrested.

ENVOY TO GERMANY.

The Marquis De Gabriac goes to Berlin on the 3d inst., as French Ambassador. The selection upon ingress to and egress from Paris is removed from the third instant.

THE PARIS PRESS ON THE FUTURE OF FRANCE.

Paris, June 1. The French journals are much divided in sentiment as to the future of the country. The Opinion, Bien Publique, Liberte, Siecle and Constitutionel, favor the maintenance of the Republic; the Temps, National and Patrie are very guarded in their comments upon the situation. The Opinion thinks that the withdrawal of Thiers would be equivalent to a revolution. The Siecle says Thiers is as energetic against Bonapartists as the Reds. The Figaro favors a monarchy.

EXECUTIONS CEASED.

Executions have ceased. The prisoners are now on trial at Versailles. The barricades in Paris numbered four hundred.

London, June 1.

PRINCE NAPOLEON

has written a letter to Favre, declaring those who proclaimed the dechcance of the Emperor and formed the Government of the 4th September last, and demanding of the existing authorities of France, for the determination of the future of France.

GREAT BRITAIN

London, June 1. The Times to-day, in an editorial while admitting that it was hard for the Britishers to yield their fisheries to the Americans without the advantages of reciprocity trade, expresses the earnest hope that Great Britain will loyally ratify the Treaty of Washington.

POOR HUMANITY

More that half a century ago, the following lines were found in the Royal College of Surgeons, London, beside a skeleton remarkable for its symmetry of form They were subsequently published in the London Morning Chronicle and a vain effort made to ascertain the author even offering a reward of fifty guineas

Behold this ruin! 'Twas a skull
Once of ethereal spirit full.
This narrow cell was life's retreat,
This space was thought's mysterious seat
What beauteous visions filled this spot
With dreams of pleasure long forgot!
Nor hope nor joy nor love nor fear
Have left one trace of record here

Beneath this mouldering canopy,
Once shone the bright and busy eye,
But start not at the dismal void!
If social love that eye employed,
If with no lawless fire it gleamed—
But through the dews of kindness beamed,
That eye shall be forever bright,
When sun and stars are sunk in night

Within this hollow cavern hung
The ready swift and tuneful tongue,
If falsehood's honey it disdained,
And when it could not praise, was chained,
If bold it spoke, what truth it spoke,
Yet gentle concord never broke,
This silent tongue shall plead for thee,
When time unveils eternity

Say, did these fingers delve the mine,
Or wield the ponderous rubbish shine?
Perhaps the rock or weed the gem
Can little claim or wealth to them
But if the page of truth they sought
Or comfort to the mourner brought
These hands a richer meed shall claim
Than all that wait on wealth or fame

Avails it whether bare or shod
These feet the path of duty trod?
If from the bowers of ease they fled
To seek affliction's lowly shed
If grace a lowly home they shunned
And walked where virtue's self has trod—
All, all that virtue's self has turned—
Its recompense a throne shall be
And these feet with angels' wings shall rise
And tread the palace of the skies

COMMON SCHOOL WORK

SPELLING

The classification of the country schools in Androscoggin county is or was last year, simply an enrollment, the number of recitations heard daily by the teacher averaging from twenty to thirty as I know from my records Now the number should not and need not exceed fourteen Suitable classification, which could readily be secured if teachers school committees and parents would give a little thought to the subject, would make the school over half better than to-day The expense would not be increased, on the other hand considerable money would be saved.

The recommendation for teachers in country schools to have eight or ten spelling exercises daily On the other hand there should never be made from the very smallest children to whom it is useless to assign lessons to be learned by themselves more than two spelling classes in any school with three daily exercises Again these may be conducted so as to occupy the time of only two There is no difficulty whatever when the spelling exercises are written, as they should be in conducting two exercises at the same time

In determining the scope and character of common school education, it seems to me that the safe and common sense rule to follow Teach the boys and girls the things they will have occasion to use after they leave school Teach these things in the way they will have occasion to use them. Apply this simple rule to the present common school work and what a wonderful revolution it will produce in favor of practical education The time now wasted would be worth three fold more than now So says everyone who has considered the matter

Agreeably to this rule the spelling of words should be learned by writing them as that is the way we spell after leaving school and the only way And to all has shown that this is the easiest way to learn to spell Hence pupils when studying their spelling lesson should print or write them on a slate five or ten times, always using a slate pencil Their work will never be done in a slovenly manner All those of moving lips is thus avoided the eye made to study the form of the words careful the pupils learn to write and the teacher who should always examine the slates makes certain that the spelling lesson has been properly studied Thus is also the pleasant way for the smaller pupils to study a spelling lesson as it gives them work for the hands. Then at recitation of the words are written each pupil is obliged to spell each word When the errors have been marked the pupils should be required to make the corrections themselves The misspelled words should be written over five or ten times by those unsure them for what is worth attempting to learn at all, is worth learning thoroughly

But shall there be no oral spelling? Yes a little frequently and not because it is a good way to learn to spell An oral spelling match now and then is commendable

But how can there be so much writing? Many of the pupils will not have slates and pencils Then they must be provided As for books, the teacher should take a quantity into school at the beginning of the term have them sharpened nicely and kept in a box to be used only for writing The pencils can thus be preserved unbroken, and always ready for use

But many of the pupils cannot print or write This is not to be taken as a valid excuse for more than three weeks Any teacher could, if intelligently and zealously about the work can in three weeks, teach three fourths of the children who are seven years old to print with a slate pencil plainly pupils could with out copies This is my Five weeks use I visited a primary school on Lincoln street in Lewiston In this school were children from Irish and French Parentage of the latter whose average age was seven years who could write better than half the pupils in Auburn city They wrote with the precision of slates and with a hand as legible as common newspaper plainly and rapidly wrote without copies and without mistakes Just how long had they been practicing Ten weeks The previous term they had failed to print this term they began to write

They first wrote from copies on the black board After they had learned to make all the letters they were required to write their spelling lessons and to copy stories from their reading books they had frequent exercise in free hand drawing Thus they got a vast amount of practice in the ten weeks more than pupils usually get in country schools in the first ten years of their school life A much practice might be given in the primary country schools and it would produce like results

Boys seventeen years old cannot learn to write as readily as a child of seven

The fact that they do learn to write and spell How about the words they should not These agreeably to our rule should be the words which the greater majority of the boys and girls when grown to men and women will have occasion to use in writing and or to and no other Here is a list of fifty words given at examination last year to a class of little negro children, belonging to a primary school in one of the cities of New England —

Chalybeate psychology, synecdoche, diadem archetype architect anchorage guerdon cacique, swordfish, rhododendron, sinecure Heliotrope dentzia, opodeldoc parasite servitude surcharge trafficking stagnant vaccinate, irrefragable, innuendo larynx tea caterpillar stomach colonelcy, crystalline, wheyey labyrinth ravelin, innoculate inoculate, imbroglio clepsydra, cauliflower cemetries, bivouac, cocoanut azimuth, assistance tineas, rendezvous, superfluous system infallible indelible coryphæus apocalypse hermeneutics —50

Some of the above words are common and everybody should be taught to spell them but it is simply barbarism to require pupils in the common schools to learn the spelling of one fifth of the number If there were only a few of such words it would not pay to say anything about them but there are thousands and thousands of just such words in the spelling books which are used in Androscoggin county, and the children are wasting their time vainly attempting to learn to spell them. But even if they learned to spell them they would not be profited one particle by the knowledge

What is to be done? The school committee should prescribe not the spelling book with its twenty or thirty thousand words, when five thousand are more than will ever be used by nineteen persons out of twenty, but a certain number of common words say three to five thousand. Two classes of words should be excluded, the words which can be spelled without any difficulty had the words which are not in common use At no time should a pupil be required to spell words with whose meaning he is not familiar If the use of the present unsuitable spelling books is to be continued, then the words to bespelled should be marked, first by the committee who are authorized by the law to prescribe the course of study; the committee failing to do this, then the teacher must attend the matter Let the present abomination be abated at once.

CAPTAIN HALE AND MAJOR ANDRE.—The recent publication of another edition of the Life of Major Andre, the British Spy, by Mr Winthrop Sargent, has suggested a comparison between that officer and Capt. Hale, the American Spy, both of whom incurred and paid the penalty which the inexorable rules of war decree for those who, assuming the part for the duty of playing the Spy upon the enemy, are caught in the act.
